

6 Part Sales Message

SAMPLE 1.

You need approximately 10 minutes of dedicated attention to read this.

It was in April 2015. I had just made over a million naira in PROFIT cumulatively in 4 months from a business I began with N10,000 without having to involve myself in carrying goods up and down or even network marketing.

For a young wife and mother of a 7 months old baby, who never had to leave the comfort of her home to make such an amount, this was a huge deal for me.

Life was good. My husband was proud of me. Over a million naira in profit in four months? Waah! It made me see possibilities. My mind became more open to the potentials in my business. I knew if I could do one million in four months, I could do it in one month. I could cross the '7-figure a month' mark from the same source without ending up being spent but I didn't know how.

For over a year, a 7-figure month remained just a dream for me. No matter how much I scratched, the most I made in one month was N600,000 in April 2016. I became more-driven to achieve my one-million naira a month goal.

Then it hit me - If you want to reach where you have never gotten to, with little or no headache, you need to get an escort who has been there. So I became more deliberate and started seeking the relationships I know can get me to my destination faster. I wrote myself the one million naira cheque, dated it October 1st, 2016 and had it on my vision board.

In September 2016, while preparing for my Bar finals in law school, I hit it. In 3 weeks, I made 2.3M. I literally went crazy for some minutes after I saw the alert that made my total balance 1,003,953. I took my time to count the figures, they were 7 indeed. I did a screenshot and sent it to my business coach. Hahahaha! I don't hammer. It wasn't the amount exactly that tripped me, it was the ease of making it.

How did I jump that mountain? How did I scale that hurdle? I know God played a huge factor here but now I know how He did. He gave me the common sense of getting myself sensible escorts - people who have achieved the things I want to achieve.

If you think the need for hiring a coach is overrated, it's OK. I understand the problems you may have and I will show them to you very quickly so stay with me.

The first problem you have is that you don't know the correct meaning of 'assets' and 'liabilities'. That one your broke teacher/professor taught you in school is faulty.

The second problem you have is your dreams are not big enough so you think you can do it alone. You think you still have time and if you spent more sleepless nights, you will achieve them. Trust me, you don't want to go through that route because there is a better way.

The third thing worrying you is pride. You are thinking, how can I possibly allow myself to pay and be influenced by someone who not as smart, old or rich as I am. Big sister, it is no longer by age but by results. Life principles do not respect anyone. The earlier you grab learning opportunities around you, the better.

Over the last 12 years, I have threaded the entrepreneurship path, failed at some and won many ventures.

Over the last 3 years, I have built my online brand from scratch to be among the leading female business coaches in Nigeria.

I have learnt and accomplished setting up an online business that pays me when I'm in my nightgown.

I have shared platforms with influential individuals in my niche.

I have personally mentored over 2000 women across the globe on how to start and grow their online businesses.

I have been able to scale my business such that I attract international businesses and engagements.

I have been able to build a powerful brand in such a way that hardly do I enter a crowd of 1,000 women in Nigeria and at least one person would not have heard my name or seen my face before.

I have been able to attract very qualitative relationships and opportunities that are beyond my dreams.

I have created and delivered coaching programs to clients internationally with massive results.

I have been able to structure a coaching career without having to leave the comfort of my home.

I have been featured in national and international papers, radio, blogs and TV as an authority in online business.

More importantly, I have been able to get my clients the results they desire plus more.

The list is endless and most times, I actually forget to celebrate my success but then when I remember how far I am coming from, the days of homelessness and hunger to now travelling the world with ease, the days of being a bastard to now the breadwinner, the days of being rejected by my own father to now his caregiver, I cannot but hug myself and say "Well done, Temi."

If you are reading this and you're yet to start your journey, you're better off than I was because I had no one like this to speak life into my mind since my only parent - my mother died when I was only 21.

Would you like to be exposed to the exact system I used to hit that 2.3M in 3 weeks?

Would you like to learn the skills needed to achieve the things I have achieved? I would practically be sharing my blueprint with you.

Would you like me to show and guide you on how to become influential in your niche within 90 days or less?

Would you like to wake up to alerts daily even before you leave your bed?

Would you like to be paid for being who you are?

Would you like to grow a platform of raving fans and customers who would love you and buy from you again and again?

Are you ready to pursue the freedom and lifestyle that only your own dream business can give you?

How about how to build a life you absolutely love and where you no longer have to depend on ANYBODY for permission to be great but you love yourself shamelessly?

Are you ready to learn how you can attract all the right relationships and goodness into your life?

Will you like to be able to afford to take care of your parents well, help your siblings, support your husband and be an amazing mother to your kids by building a legacy for them?

Then send me a private message here on Facebook so we can lock in your spot in the Inner Circle With Temi 6 months coaching program.

The Inner Circle is a very affordable way to work with me as your coach where I'm going to be guiding you on strategies and processes that will help you achieve all the above and more.

The best part is, those who sign up for this get to become friends with me with access to ask me questions based on what I will be teaching you so just imagine a life where you and I talk frequently just about anything that is guaranteed to give you success.

These are things I have achieved and so I know what works. If at the end on the program, you feel you have wasted your money or time on the program, I will personally refund the double of your investment with an apology.

Those whose these slots are for already know themselves. They can feel the tug in their hearts as they read this. They are ready to burn their excuses and go for the results their hearts desire.

If you know what you need is not another course but an actual coaching with a trained pair of hands and eyes guiding you, this is for you.

I'm talking about you who desire more meaning to your life and you want to be able to finally birth the dreams you've been carrying around all this years.

The Inner Circle costs N50,000 monthly for the Basic access and N150,000 monthly for the Elite access.

Registration closes tomorrow Friday. We start May 1st till October.

As you close this post, remember, opportunities lost cannot be regained.

If you're in, send me a private message for the payment details and comment below.

My name is Temi Ajibewa aka #TheElectricTemi, with me, it's either you win or you WIN!

SAMPLE 2.

In late 2015, I made a conscious decision to begin to live life beyond myself and so I developed a chant: my life is too small to be the only reason why I'm alive.

Prior to then, all I had ever wanted was to leave my past pains behind and become a better person for myself.

By April 2015, I was beginning to make some money from my MTN data sharing business online with little or no overhead cost and life was getting better.

Then one day I received a BBM broadcast from a friend, Emeka Nobis about teaching on writing and social media etiquette online.

It was strange to me because prior to then all the lessons I had ever received were within the four walls of a classroom. How can you even teach someone writing all from the internet? A BBM group for that matter. Hian!

I was intrigued and curious at the same time. But more importantly, I was shocked that anyone would even charge N5,000 to teach 'that'. What is there to learn about writing or etiquette? And why do I have to pay so much when he's not renting a hall or serving me food in the class?

My curiosity got the better of me and I asked my friend for further details so I could attend the class. I only made payment after he assured me that he was personally guaranteeing the class as he would be facilitating a session too.

Long story short, I attended the class in a BBM group and was shocked to see there were over 20 of us in the class. My head did a quick calculation.

Over 100k just like that?

If you ask me now what I gained from the class, honestly I do not remember anything from the notes except that my mind shifted as I saw an opportunity to also teach what I know - how to sell mobile data, online.

This mind shift caused me to get a graphic designer to create my own flyer and hold my very first online class at N10,000 each to women who wanted to earn money from home. I had 13 students. Within another month, I had 23. When I saw the amount of results my students were getting, I doubled my rates.

During those classes, I would teach these women social media marketing and more importantly, money management and from there, I got the tag 'coach' and at first I was uncomfortable about it because I felt I was not an expert yet but then I met another friend, Sam Obafemi who assured me that my results and the results I've been able to help other people get are enough to confer the expert status on me.

As time went on, it became clear that I was deeply passionate about helping people make more money and opening their eyes to opportunities around them was my special talent.

However, I realized that to become fully capable of delivering my gift to the world, to be able to help people better, I needed to build capacity. I had to get certified. So you see, I didn't get certified before I began to impact lives and you don't need to too.

In December 2015, I ended up paying the most I had ever paid for any 'education' for me to expand my capacity - N150,000 for a 5 days class - minus my flight and accommodation cost.

Right in that class, my awareness level was raised. My potentials became clearer and little wonder within the next 6 months, I wrote my first book and I hit my very first 7 figure income.

All from an ordinary N5,000 writing and etiquette class on BBM, or so I thought. To think that the same me who thought that N5000 was ridiculous for an online class 3 years ago just paid $1800 for an online course few days ago.

Today, I'm grateful for that shift because it was the beginning of many great awareness that has led to even greater accomplishments in my life.

Do you know there are some opportunities you will never know exist unless you are in some circles?

Are you aware that the real value of your network is your network?

How have you been able to grow whatever capacity you have had the opportunity of acquiring?

If you are not currently comfortable with your status, have you tried to do an analysis of what your mind is feeding on and their impact on your life?

Have you tried to analyze what the value of the seeds you are sowing to your life is worth and therefore estimate your harvest?

Do you know that the value of personal development is actually invaluable?

Do you know there are some doors that God will never open for you because He actually expects you to stretch your hand and turn the door knob?

If you are in dire need of help to launch a profitable business doing what you love. Send me a DM now. Let's talk.

Most times, the doors to opportunities are strategically presented as problems. If only you will grow your capacity to solve these problems and open your mind to the potentials in every situation you find yourself, you will become unstoppable.

It's a new day to do something differently. Go be great.

To your accelerated success.
