EMAIL 2: These Two Mistakes Cost Me 200k

Hello |Fname|,

As promised yesterday, the lessons you are about to learn from the experience I will share with you today are highly valuable. So pay attention to every word in this email.

When I started my online business, I was too skeptical to pay anyone to teach me anything because I had a smartphone and I thought Google had all the answers to everything. So I went on Google to learn the basics and then launched my business.

2 months later, I found myself sitting in my living room looking at my records and they just didn't add up.

The only question on my mind was this:

“where did my money go? Where did my data bundles disappear to?”

I knew I had followed all I learned on Google about this business to the letter, so how can I be at such a loss or was Google wrong?

I was confused, almost hysterical and I was alone because my son was sleeping in the bedroom and my husband had gone to work.

Rather than submitting myself to tears (though I was highly tempted to cry), I decided to reach out to Michael. Michael was a young man who also sells data bundles though he was much younger than I me, I swallowed my pride and I called up Michael. As I explained how things were with me and the mess I was into, I could hear him laugh...

Rather than getting angry, I asked him... “What’s the matter, why are you laughing?”

Then he asked me two (2) questions. When I answered the questions, he said, “That is it Temi, that is it! You are not supposed to do this and this...”

Oh my God!

You mean I had lost over N200,000 in less than 30 days because of these two little silly mistakes?

Here are the mistakes:

Mistake No. 1

I renewed data on the same line before it expired.

Mistake No. 2

I did not remove all the previous beneficiary of the particular bundle before renewing on that same line!

If you are not into that kind of business, you will not understand everything I just said right now but those were my errors and I had no idea.

Of course it became obvious to me that, Google can only take you to a point. There are some practices in business that you cannot know unless you get practical training from someone who is willing to show you the way.

I ~~asked~~ begged him to show me the way and of course, he charged me and I was grateful to pay him.

Armed with these two lessons and a mentor, I became widely successful. In 4 months, I had cumulatively made a over one million Naira in profits from a business I started with just N10,000.

Now let me share with you the only lesson that I learnt from this experience which has helped me to go on and build more than five different 7 figure businesses right from my home.

A Free Guide On How To Make Millions Doing What You Love

I am thanking you because I know it is a huge step you are trying to take - to make a living doing what you love, your passion.

By grabbing this free guide, you have confirmed to me that:

1. You most likely have tried to monetise your passion unsuccessfully before now and yet, you are still willing to get help, to learn from someone who has done it. I think that is noble.
2. You may have succeeded in starting a business around your passion but you are not getting as much traction as you would like to or as you see other people (like me) making AND YET, you are smart and humble enough to admit that you need help so you can become really better. Really, I think you deserve some accolades for your honesty.
3. You are FINALLY ready to dare to be the best you can be, the best God has made you to be, to fulfill His intention for you because I strongly believe it is one of God's intentions for man to earn a fee doing what he would have gladly done for free.

Whewww!

See why I had to thank you? Hahaha

Download your free guide here and remember to save it once you open it, ok? I would love to hear how the guide helped you once you are done so feel free to hit the reply button.

Mail 3: In the beginning....

About five years ago, I started my online business while nursing my first son as a law student cum housewife.

I started with N10,000 reselling MTN data bundles and later recharge cards. I was reselling data bundles jejele just to make ends meet and support my young family and within 4 months of the right mentoring on the business, I had made a cumulative income of over 1 million naira!

This blew my mind << Test First Name >>, and I began to nurture the thought of teaching other women this business and liberate them from being “broke housewives” since it was a business they could do from the comfort of their homes.

In the process of teaching these women how they could start the data sharing business, I would also teach them money management, time management, multiple streams of income and so on. Before long, lots of them began to call me ‘Coach’. At first, I felt uneasy with the name because I wasn’t certified but as time went on, I embraced it. And that was the beginning of Coach Temi you now know today.

I discovered that I could teach people on business or money-making endlessly without getting tired or fagged out. And most importantly the sense of fulfillment that envelops me after each teaching session is indescribable.

Gradually, I began to lose interest in my original business. As a matter of fact, at a point in time, I became weary picking calls and attending to customers who wanted to buy data bundles from me. I became really tired of that business even though I was making good money from it but couldn't quit because it was still putting food on my table while coaching wasn't!

Soon, I began to resent my gift because it wasn't bringing as much money to me as the data business which I wasn't enjoying.

I don't know how anyone on earth will agree to pay me to do what I love doing which include speaking, teaching, writing, encouraging and inspiring people etc.

This was the situation I found myself and I was struggling to keep making money with my data sharing business and to answer the call that I felt so strongly in my heart which is business coaching.

The struggle was real until I found out something I am going to share with you in tomorrow's mail. Make sure you don't miss out on it because it will totally revolutionize how you think about your passion.

Thank you!

Talk to you tomorrow.

Mail 4: Here's what I found out....

Hello |Fname|

Yesterday, I told you how I ventured into an online business as a stay at home mom. While at it, I was making so much money and I began to train other women on the business. Not long before then, I became The Millionaire Housewife.

However as sweet as the title was, I was unhappy within me because something kept telling me that I was made for more. I promised to share with you one thing I found out that totally revolutionized my life as regards my passion and here you go....

What I found out were actually two and I will share them with you briefly.

They are;

1. I was taking myself for granted. I came to realize that the reason why I was thinking no one would pay me was because I was too familiar with myself. I was feeling that the things I do or know are simple and was no big deal. I had no idea that I was unusually amazing until I began to teach people and they will give me overwhelming feedback. They will go "Oh my God! Temi, thank you so much for sharing". And I will wonder what was it about what I shared.

2. I did not need a certificate to become a coach or pursue my passion.

Every now and then I see a lot of people wanting to pursue their passion and the first thing they want to do is to bag another degree. Usually, these are people who have 3-4 degrees already. In my case, I had 2 degrees; B.A English and LLB. Law and I was still feeling inadequate and thought I needed more certifications to get on board.

Fortunately, I discovered early enough that I did not need any certificate to be awesome.

Thank you for reading this mail << Test First Name >>.

Tomorrow, I will share with you the practical steps I took for me to be able to monetize my passion after discovering that I was taking advantage of myself and that I didn't need a certificate to pursue my passion or to monetize my passion as it were.

I hope you are enjoying all my mails so far, hit the reply button and let me know if you have any a-ha moments or if there are other things you will like me to talk about.

Thank you very much.

Mail 6: This changed the game for me!

Hey |Fname|

I trust you were able to pin-point your primary passion yesterday and it must have felt good, right? Awesome.

Now that you are sure if your passion can be monetized or not, let's get going.

Another thing that helped me monetize my passion was that I got a total clarity on how to brand my business online.

The moment that I decided that I wanted to become a business coach, I began to brand myself online legitimately. It was a GAME CHANGER for me. You see lots of people will not buy from you if you don't look like the solution you are offering. They are not bad people. That's just how we as humans are wired and I'm sure you understand this.

I talked explicitly about how to brand yourself in my book How To Make Millions Doing What You Love. In the book, I shared on marketing strategies you can employ to get people trusting you faster and pay you what you are worth.

This book goes for N5000 ordinarily but guess what? I am giving you an offer to get the book for FREE.

All you have to do is cover the shipping and logistics.

Mail 7: I have not been able to sleep!

Hello |Fname|

I am excited to write this email to you because of the responses I got yesterday from those who have gotten the How To Make Millions Doing What You Love Book.

Precious said:

‘Oh my goodness, Temi! I have not been able to sleep oh. Boom! I read chapter 4 and 5 and see my realization. It was so easy. I see my core purpose..... Thank you for giving and pouring out yourself in the book”

Just look at that! Can you now see why I am excited?

If you didn't get the book yesterday, what happened? Are you in doubt that you won't get value for your time? Or maybe you missed the link?

No problem. Here is the link again. Click Here To Get Your Book For FREE Now. All you are paying is the delivery and logistics fee nationwide. You will get it within 5 working days.

Mail 8: What Held You Back, |Fname|?

You have been receiving my mails now for some days on how to monetize your passion and I hope you have gotten my book because that book really explains everything you may want to ask me about how I was able to monetise my passion and build my personal brand.

I used to struggle as an entrepreneur, but today, I am a certified results and business coach, a 2 time Amazon Bestselling Author, international speaker, featured on national TV and newspapers, among other amazing things. And guess what?

I was awarded the Business Coach of the year in 2018!!! But that is not why I'm here.

Well, it's a part of it but I just want to ask you << Test First Name >>, do you see yourself getting accolades doing what you love? If not, I'm here to tell you that IT IS POSSIBLE if you know somethings!

You are where you are right now because of what you know and you can be so much more if you learn more.

If you are yet to get my book 'How To Make Millions Doing What You Love', what held you back?

Is it that you don't reside in Nigeria, or you are unable to pay in Naira? That's not a problem as you can simply reply this mail to get our PayPal details.
